Walk J

The Turks Head from Little Bealings, via Seckford Hall. Along rivers, through fields and meadows.

Can be muddy in places, not suitable for pushchairs or wheelchairs.

1. The walk starts adjacent to the telephone Kiosk opposite the old Admiral's Head Public House, Little Bealings. Take the track away from the road that goes to the rear of Dower House, just prior to the white gates at the end of the track a footpath sign can be seen on your left. (300m)
2. Take this into open countryside so the woods are on your right. The path is reasonably well defined but unfortunately not well signed). Continue through fields in roughly a straight line until reaching a small bridge that crosses the Rive Lark near its confluence with the River Fynn. (1.1km)
3. Continue over the bridge in the same straight line until reaching the left bank of the River Fynn. Follow the river, until it disappears under the A12 road, then follow the embankment that carries the A12 road until a tunnel is found under the road. (600m)
4. Continue following the embankment to the field corner then turn left, away from the road, until joining a track that takes you to Cherry Tree Farm (ignore the track prior to the buildings). At the far side of the buildings the track forks, continue along the right-hand fork up the slope. (630m)
5. Continue up the track until you meet Seckford Hall Road where you turn right. On reaching the entrance to Seckford Hall a footpath sign is visible on the left. Take this pathway coming out onto a track that leads to Wood Barn Cottages. (1.65km)
6. Take the obvious footpath to the right of the buildings that cuts between two fields. On reaching the hedge on the far side turn right then after 40m turn left along another field with the hedge on your right. At the end of this field the path forks, take the left-hand fork and continue along an obvious path between hedges until reaching the B1079 Grundisburgh Road. (740m)
7. On reaching the road take care and cross to reach the end of Shrubbery Road opposite, follow the road down the hill. Approximately 90m after a sharp left hand bend in the road a stile with footpath sign is on your right. (650m)
8. Climb the stile, cross the field and over the next stile and small bridge following an obvious footpath through a small wood. Continue up the slope with hedge on your left and paddocks to the right until a footpath sign is found indicating a turn to the left, St Andrew's Church can be seen at this point. (320m)
9. Take the footpath down the slope to the church and road way after passing through the churchyard and lych gate. At the road turn right to the T junction with Blacksmith's Road where a lieft turn is required that will take you via Top Road to The Turks Head where refreshments and drinks may be purchased. (680m)
